What is ARRL Field Day?

ARRL Field Day is the most popular on-the-air event held annually in the United States and Canada. This event brings together amateur radio enthusiasts, also known as "hams," for a weekend of operating under simulated emergency conditions. It's a chance to showcase the science and skill of amateur radio while having fun and building community. With all the activity around solar cycle 25 and the auroras of late, it's the perfect chance to try working a band you may not normally work.

Why Should You Attend?

- Experience Amateur Radio: Whether you're a seasoned operator or a curious newcomer, Field Day is a fantastic opportunity to get hands-on experience with ham radio.
- Community and Fun: Hang out with your fellow radio enthusiasts, enjoy social activities, and be part of a supportive and passionate community.

Activities Include:

- Trying out other Stations: Many folks will have their station setup! Ask them if you can use it!
- Sharing your station: Sometimes it's nice to let others see how your setup works
- GOTA (Get On The Air) Station: Specifically designed for newcomers to try out ham radio. We need both on-site and remote folks for GOTA activities!
- Technical Demos: Learn about the latest technology and best practices in amateur radio. Things like fox hunting and antenna placement as well as data services like SSTV and SMS/Email.
- Food and Refreshments: Join us for a BBQ starting around 4:30pm sponsored by LARK

What to Bring:

- Your Enthusiasm: Whether you're there to operate, learn, or socialize, bring your passion for amateur radio.
- Personal Equipment: If you have your own gear, feel free to bring it along.
